

Sunday 13th November 2016

On Remembrance Day the guardians, house captains and vice captains all gathered at Thornton cenotaph to remember the service men and women who have fought and died in wars since the First World War.

Alex Shuttleworth and Phoebe Poulter (Stanah guardians), laid a wreath on the cenotaph on behalf of the school. There were lots of citizens of Thornton and the surrounding area who also went to pay their respects.

At eleven o'clock the bugler played the last post, then we had two minutes of silence. At the end of the service we all sang the national anthem. We then paraded back past the crowds.
